

HANGING GARDENS

Not one of the original Seven Wonders, just the name of a range of wallpapers brought out this month. Designed and marketed by Osborne & Little, 304 Kings Road, London SW3, the range consists of

SPANISH BUYS

Among articles selected this year for approval by ADIFAD, the Spanish design centre in Barcelona, was this lamp by Fernando Salas

Sierra (above), manufactured by Jresis. It won a special mention from the jury. Olivetti's Lettera 35 typewriter, designed by Mario Bellini, also won a special mention.

CARELIA SUITE

Program Meredew Contracts has produced a new system of knock-down library furniture called Carelia. It is designed to cope with anything from magazines, annuals, encyclopaedias and atlases to records and cassettes. There are also staff lockers and wardrobes, projection and display screens, card index cabinets and book trolleys. Made of 22mm chipboard laminated in Melamine, the entire system can be put together with a screwdriver. It comes in off-white, but other colours are available.
